Dear Mrs Grandy.

I tried all week to write you a line but it seemed like every body was here. Thursday we had company all day & then extra for supper and evening. Of course mamma had her work everyday and Friday I had to help entertain one while waiting for mamma to get through. O dear I wanted to sew but not a stitch. I was very nervouse and tired when I got home Sunday but I enjoyed the day very much indeed. I think I got nervouse over Mr C. telephoning in the morning but havnt heard a word since.

My! the ride into town was fine. the country is certainly beautiful. we went down town to see the "Fashion Show" yesterday everything was beautiful, but to much gaudy stuff for ordinary folks.

I have thought of you all week and sent you the best "thoughts" I could for I know you need them. I can not help physically but can send mental thoughts that will help. I know you do not understand me in some of these things but that does not make any difference. So I am going to ask you to send me your thoughts for a half hour during the day if it when you go to bed. Just try and concentrate your mind on me during that time. Now do not make it hard work and if other things or thoughts come into your mind, just think of me in the next thought you have. I want to see if I can give you strength. I can not tell just how. And I think you need help.

you certainly are a brave girl with four tots doing what you are. For I can see an inche beyond my nose.

Now I suppose you will think this is a strange letter but no it is one of sympathy but it is hard for me to express my thoughts.

I suppose you found the pictures I forgot them some time I will get them when I come down.

I am sorry Ya has more cold the youngsters have cold but it is from their system being out of order. But they are not bad.
Now I must close for I have some other letters that I must write. Best regards to Mr G. and love to yourself and little ones.
Sincerely
Nellie Civille
